Read the diary entry and answer the questions that follow.

I don't talk Ukrainian with people! I have two Ukrainian friends, and I speak English with them. I have been learning Ukrainian with Duolingo since March 2022. I helped to organise Ukrainian language classes in our local community hub, and, obviously, I have been writing this book. But I don't talk Ukrainian with people.

I do talk Ukrainian ... with myself. I imagine conversations. I talk about what my family and I like to do, what we like to eat, I ask imaginary people questions about themselves. I ask these figments of my imagination if they understand and they always do. I do too!

I don't talk Ukrainian with people ... yet! I soon will though, and in preparation for that day, I want to learn a few phrases using the verb to speak, which is говорити.

Read about English and Ukrainian reflexive verbs.

In English, a reflexive verb has the same subject and object.

Let's go a step back. In the sentence, I throw the ball, I am the subject because I do the action. The ball is the object because it receives the action of the verb ... it is thrown.

Wash can be a reflexive verb. It is reflexive when I say, I wash myself, because I do the verb, and I receive the action of the verb. I am the subject and the object. In English we would normally say get washed, and leave out words like myself, yourself, herself, themselves and so on. We could also simply say I wash. If the person washing is the same person being washed, it is reflexive.

Reflexive verbs are quite easy in Ukrainian. You form the verb in the normal way, then add  $-c\mathfrak{s}$ , an ending that is related to ce6e, the Ukrainian word for "the self". You might also see  $-c\mathfrak{b}$ , which can be used when the next letter is a vowel.

Look at the example, and check that it is a normal conjugation with the extra letters tagged on each time.

Митися = То	wash yourself
Я миюся = I get washed (I wash myself)	Ми миємося = We get washed
Ти миєшся = You get washed	Ви миєте ся = You get washed
Він миється = He washes (himself)	Вони миються = They get washed

a bit different

Read a little more about Ukrainian reflexive verbs.

Some verbs, such as smile and laugh, don't have an object. In the sentence, I smile, I am the subject, smile is the verb and there is no object. These verbs have the reflexive suffix, the extra little  $-c\pi$  in Ukrainian. Ycmixatuc $\pi$  = To smile.

Some verbs have slightly different meanings when they are reflexive. For example, вчити means to teach or to learn, but вчитися means to study.

Read the information. Прочитайте інформацію.

A lovely way to make a comment on something, is to use an adjective in sentences such as, "What a tasty lunch!", "What an interesting book!" or "What an elegant suit!" It is easy to do in Ukrainian, following the pattern: Який + adjective + noun. The word який has to agree with the gender or number of the noun, and so does the adjective, but that is ok. What an elegant way to give an opinion!

Read about the nominative and accusative cases

The clothing we studied also has case.

- It is a skirt = Це спідниця, nominative case.
- I am looking for a skirt = Шукаю спідницю, accusative case.

When I ask, "Where can I buy an elegant skirt?", the skirt is the direct object of the verb, so the case changes to accusative. Masculine, neuter and plural nouns have the same forms ... they don't change when the case is accusative. Feminine nouns do change, and their adjectives change too! Look at the examples. (You will use the numbers in a moment).

Table 1

	Nominative		Accusative
1	Це елегантна шапка.	2	Де ви купили цю елегантну шапку?
3	Яка елегантна сукня!	4	Моя мама шукає елегантну сукню.
5	Яка модна куртка!	6	Де можна купити модну куртку?
7	Ця футболка не модна.	8	Ми шукаємо модну футболку.
9	У вас є жіноча сорочка?	10	Я бачила жіночу сорочку у магазині.
11	Яка дешева спідниця!	12	Можна поміряти цю спідницю?

Using the sentences above, note the nominative and accusative forms of these words.
